Let's have some fun!!!

In 1996 there were fewer USBA tournaments held and there were fewer entrants in many. This was probably due to the fact that 1996 was not a year which was going to have much bearing on who made the USA teams for world cup. In 1997 we have also seen fewer tournaments. This is probably due to the fact that making a USA team is totally dependent on three tournaments. These three were very well attended.

I would just like to suggest that if the USA teams are determined only by three tournaments every second year, we could have a whole bunch of fun the rest of the time! Since I got involved in the sport in 1990 I have heard endless conversation on the rules and heated arguments about enforcement of the rules at tournaments. This was all because every throw could affect the outcome in the event for the tournament and every event in every tournament impacted who would make the USA teams. Well, Good News!!! That is not a problem any more!!! We can have fun now!

Tony B can take his wife's advice and run thrower selected trick catch. Larry Ruhf can run trick catch with the suicide format. John Koehler can combine trick catch and doubling and count it as one event. Someone can forget the trick catch event entirely and let the standings in GLORP count toward the tournament winner. In Michigan we can let 3 throw stick events and 3 returning boomerang events decide a tournament. Save some time: Combine fast catch and endurance into 2 minute endurance. Run a couple individual events and count the scores towards team results and then run team events the rest of the day. Run some events head to head and some per USBA rules. We've grumbled long enough. We are free.

Tournament directors should only submit events which were conducted according to USBA rules and the USBA should track these scores as they always have. We don't have to bother them with the rest of the results.

The only question I have is, will people travel very far to compete in a tournament which is not 100% according to USBA rules. We'll see.

Quarterly Quote

Mark Horstmeier said:

"Jonas is here in America right now helping the Europeans to break the sound barrier in a jet-car. I'll try to twist Jonas' arm about getting the article he has promised."

Then Louis Cassorla said:

"I thought the great thing about Jonas is that you never have to twist his arms. They're supposedly all properly and permanently tuned."

I would like to urge that we adopt the word "player" when referring to boomerangers, boomerang throwers, boomchuckers, etc.

Boomeranger is cumbersome. Boomerang thrower is incomplete. We not only throw, but also catch boomerangs. And the sport isn't just throw and catch either. There are many other facets to the game. Some words sound nice and flow well when you tack on an -er. There are golfers, swimmers, runners, and wrestlers. But some words sound just plain dorky. We don't have footballers or tennisers or baseballers or soccerers. Those are all sports that we play, and the people who play them are players. I think we play boomerangs and therefore we are players.

When presenting our sport to the media and the public, it is good to stick to words and phrases people are used to. Boomerang player just sets better on the ear for the first time than boomeranger. Sure, it sounds a little awkward to us, but that's because we've been saying boomerang thrower for so long. Why do we say boomerang thrower? Well, I'm not sure who first used the term but I do know that as recently as 20 years ago most boomerangs were best left uncaught. They were traditionals with knuckle-nipping spin rates. Now we have better boomerangs that we catch and do all kinds of crazy things with.

We have a complex sport that we play. Why can't we play boomerangs?

One last thing. Look at the word: boomeranger. There should be no anger in our sport.

Now pardon me while I go racquetballing...

I want to say thanks to JimboLouis Labs for the article in MHR about lighting booms with LEDs and batteries.

We just had our biggest central Nebraska kite fly last weekend. Both Saturday and Sunday nights had night flies scheduled. There was no wind on Sat and it died quick on Sun. A boom friend and I hooked up a couple booms with LEDs and went to work. We were a big hit with the crowd. Several times I heard from the spectators "I'll be damned, would you look at that." We had a lot of fun and probably have some kites looking for booms.

Yesterday I received issue 69 of MHR. It looks good but to tell you the truth I've given up on the USBA. Issue 69 was the first thing out of the USBA in about a year when issue 68 came out. The quote "There has been a noticeable lapse in" (continued on page 4)

FROM THE
President's Desk

Betsylew Miale-Gix addresses some recent changes on the American boomerang scene

THREE DIVISIONS The USBA Board, at the urging of Tony Brazelton and Betsylew Miale-Gix (and at the request of Norm Kernace Open class competitor) has voted to enforce the requirement that all three divisions be offered at all USBA tournaments (if the TD wants the results sanctioned by the USBA). Also, we voted to require some form of award to the best in each of the divisions. As you may recall the rules have required three divisions (Novice, Open and Sport) but many of the east and midwest tourneys weren't following these requirements.

During the 1997 Tourney season, if you choose to throw Open, for example, throwers in your division will have their scores computed against each other only for tourney awards purposes, i.e., you won't have to beat Chet to win an event!

For the ratings system, the Open and Sport classes will continue to be clumped together for ratings point computations according to the chart.

Your USBA Board thinks it is important that everyone who comes out to a tournament leaves at the end of the day having both accomplished something and wanting to come back again. Maybe some people will be inspired to practice and move up the division food chain. Others may want just to have fun at the skill level they are comfortable with.

Tournament directors may simplify the scoring within the Open and Novice divisions if they like - for tourney award purposes only, as the scores don't go into the rating system that way - by using a simple system like the Aussie/Euro system, for example. First place gets one point, second place two points, etc. Add 'em up from each event and the one with the least total points wins. This has been clarified for tourney directors in their packets.

Yes your USBA DOES CARE about the beginner and intermediate thrower as well as the top competitors. This is one good example.

NEW TRICK CATCHES The USBA Board

also voted NOT to change any catches in the Doubling event and NOT to combine Doubling and Trick Catch. This was done expressly with the intermediate and beginner throwers in mind.

The changes in Trick Catch will help all of us at each skill level get better and have more fun working on cool new catches. These are tried and true catches that the Europeans have been doing for a couple of years now. Just as many of our rules have been accepted overseas, so we need to be willing to adopt some of their good ideas as well!

Also, there is a trade off for all of us in this line up: there is ONLY ONE FOOT CATCH now. Only one big 5 pointer. So we took away one tough, big point catch and put in a new one worth a point less. Heck, those of you soccer or hackey sack players have the basic skill needed for that foot/leg hackey already.

TEAM SELECTION With regard to the team selection process, the system was designed to be as fair and open as possible within reason. It was designed to get all the OPEN class throwers who believe they have what it takes to compete at the WORLD CLASS level for the USA, against the best from the rest of the world, to go to all three regions of the country with fairly large numbers of throwers and face each other.

No more having some throwers being able to minimize the expense and distance of travel needed to get to enough tournaments to be rated because there are more tourneys within driving distance of where they live, while other throwers cannot do the same. No more choosing to go only to the tourneys that traditionally have offered the best throwing conditions and dodging those that don't. No more just dominating your region without having to face the top throwers from other parts of the country.

By eliminating the ability to use the above ratings manipulation tactics, avoiding the subjective factors of the old boy network comfort level aspect of past selections, the USBA Board has given MORE THROWERS THAN EVER BEFORE A SHOT AT MAKING A TEAM!

Thoughts from the RangList and Elsewhere

The universal sales rep

I faced some strong winds the other Saturday. Then I remembered something Colorado Boomerangs suggested about outdoor alternatives, "too strong for rang throwing, fly a kite!" I went to the local kite store and purchased a kite. I noticed some Pro Flies and 5-ply rangs hanging in the store with the kites. A couple of the wooden rangs were pretty, but not up to the quality of Colorado or Abo Steve (my only rangs to date). I then suggested to the store owner that he look at my rang makers printouts from Abo Steve, Colorado and even B-man's stuffed catalog. The kite guy was very accomodating because he purchased several from Abo Steve and Colorado for his store.

As fate would insist, the day I purchased my kite, the wind stopped blowing, lasting 2 weeks. I and the kite store owner and fellow kite-heads have been throwing rangs down at the kite field. Also, the group has taken up nite-rangs when the winds are lower in the evening. (I purchased some 3" X 1/4" Cyalume light sticks from Jim Jordan not long ago and loaned a dozen to these fellows.) The kite store is purchasing some 2" Cyalume sticks for kites (and rangs) with which to perpetuate the night sport.

I am purchasing a Delicate Arch today from the kite store.

Twist some negative

Congratulations to the top throwers in this year's throwing season. However, what was the mechanism for selecting these teams? There is a problem using a rating system to pick teams. I sense an imbalance in personalities and individual strengths on these two teams which will probably give Germany (and France) an edge over the USA in 1998. If I could rearrange the same 12 people into two different teams, I would put them in this order:

Team 1: Chet Snouffer, Adam Ruhf, John Flynn, John Gorski, Michael Girvin and Mike Dixon.

Team 2: Betsylew Miale-Gix, Gary

Broadbent, Chicago Bob, Mark Weary, Rob Parkins and John Koehler.

These combinations would probably give a better mix of strengths in all the key areas and insure at least a first place win.

The best way to form a team is to let the throwers pick their own teams and then petition the USBA. The throwers already know each other and they will naturally gravitate towards the strongest and most compatible teams. The German team (Young Guns) that won in New Zealand was picked in this manner. I would rather see the USBA put their energy into providing membership services that will benefit all of the USBA members, not just the small percentage who religiously compete each year. Too much effort goes into this team and competition stuff.

Feedback from the Gu-Ruhe

I liked the article in issue 68 on the actual speeds being attained by fast catch throwers. I always wondered about those casual 100 mph claims, having watched close up (in my sports writing days) some of the authentically good major league fast ball pitchers. Granted the baseball has more air resistance, but still...When you saw the likes of Bob Feller in action, you realized

The Autumn Wind

The autumn wind is free tonight
Free to soar and fly tonight!
Clouds of hawks, 100 meters high
Dance in the wind, across the sky!
Arrows of geese, at cruise-missile height
Dodging boomerangs in errant flight.
Sundawn's purple, orange and red
Frame booms in flight above my head.
Great beams of light spiral the sky.
Miracles surround us, from on high.
A part of me aches to be free,
Jumps from my hand, eager to see
What lies beyond, above the trees.
Each throw stronger, higher, bolder
Til time stops beating
To pause and wonder
The autumn wind is free tonight
Free to soar and fly tonight!

Adam Ruhf has a way to go.

Small but awful error in your otherwise nice little rewrite on the antiquity of boomerangs. It's Irian (as in Irian Jaya, the western half of the island of Papua New Guinea) and not Iran, which is far, far away. Take a look at an atlas and you'll see the point. I'm hoping to go to Irian to search for unknown cave paintings of boomerangs but fear the Indonesians won't permit a visit since a revolution is going on in the country right now. Besides which the wretched Indonesian government is shipping millions—correct, millions—of Javanese to Irian, which has one of the world's few remaining Stone Age populations. There are people in the highlands still making and using stone tools. You can just imagine what the introduction of sophisticated—well relatively—Javanese rice farmers, plus the incursions of wrenching American mining and oil companies from Texas and Louisiana, are doing to this fragile, irreplaceable ecosystem. Maybe the USBA could do a letter writing campaign to the Indonesian embassy in Washington. The Indonesians, since they of course get lots of U.S. cash, are much more sensitive to this sort of thing than most people imagine.

I have large amounts of wonderful boomerang material written up, stuff never before seen by aficionados, and might contribute some to the newsletter if I can dredge it up out of my now mounds of packed baggage. We'll see.

*Ben Ruhe
Somewhere out there*

Security Check

One time on a flight to Denver, I went to retrieve my baggage but the tag was missing. Security told me that I would need to identify some item within. I said "That's easy. I have two boomerangs in the suitcase." They laughed and replied "If there is a boomerang in this suitcase it would have to be yours." Naturally it was an easy claim.

Revelations

Hey, what's up? I took your advice and read the instructions again until I memorized them and finally threw a good one that actually came back beautifully. Unfortunately, I just stared dumbly as it came back in a nice hover and hit my leg. I realized then and there that I didn't know how to catch a boom on its return trip. I know you have to clap your hands together in order to catch, but it just wasn't working. Since the boom spins somewhere inside the angle, my hands always miss cuz the boom moves around. I thing I'm thinking about it too much and I should just run after it and slap my hands together and catch the damn thing. She flies great, though and thanks again.

I got the magazine celebrating USBA's 15th B-day. I found my letter inside and I have to say that I sound sooo cheezy. If I knew that you guys were gonna print it, I would have written something more inspiring. Thanks anyway for printing it. Read ya later.

membership service" is an understatement. It's been at least a year since the USBA has done anything for its membership. Actually when I became enthusiastic about boomerangs 4 years ago I wanted to help. To help out I wrote an article for MHR. It was never used. No one told me why. Then I noticed other things I didn't care for and even though I was a USBA member it was like I had no voice. In issue 61 Rusty Harding contributed an excellent article on tuning wooden boomerangs. It was supposed to be a two-parter, part two coming in Issue 62. It never did. Apparently Rusty had stepped on some toes in the first article and wrote some things that other members didn't agree with. So they canned him, cut him out. Is this the way the USBA treats its members? Someone writes something the staff doesn't like so you deny him his say? Most of the stuff I read in MHR was stale news anyway. Ted Bailey's Boomerang News was way ahead of the game. If I had a customer who was getting interested in boomerangs, I would give him Ted's address and highly recommend Boomerang News, but I would not even mention the USBA. I wouldn't want to disappoint the guy. You write that "the board...has cleaned out the cobwebs." I certainly hope so, but I have heard this before and nothing came of it. The USBA staff should be paid money for their work. This would make them more efficient and the censorship should stop. If someone writes something you don't like, don't pull the plug on his articles. Different styles and approaches is what makes a sport exciting and fun. If a member writes or says something you disagree with, don't deny him a voice. I can't think of one aspect of the boomerang sport that is without controversy- and isn't that wonderful! Our sport is just like every other sport.

Here's a side issue: How about a new name for this publication. Many Happy Returns was chosen in the 1970s and was OK for that time. Today the title sounds quaint and cute. Not the right title for a new publication and a new century. I would like to see the board let the membership vote on this.

I would like to write an article for the new publication, but I don't want to spend time writing the article only to have it turned down by some staff member who doesn't like what I wrote. The article would be about the public's false perceptions about boomerangs. Like you I'm very concerned at the way the public sees boomerangs. A brief outline follows: I. Public discussion of boomerangs with weapons; II. A discussion about boomerangs in cartoons (much of the public misconceptions come from this source); III. The public's misconception of boomerangs as dangerous; IV. Discussion of warning labels often found on boomerangs (some of them are very odd).

All four of these are interrelate. If this idea is accepted then I could have the article ready for spring issue 71. And let's hope that by then it's not called MHR anymore and that writers are compensated for their work.

*Thomas Risher

The best and the worst of

Awards 1997

Well, the 1997 competition season is over. As we reflect on the year, some things stand out from others. The MHR Awards are a chance to acknowledge the people and the boomerangs that distinguished themselves (or not) in 1997.

MHR's

Michael 'Gel' Girvin

When Michael Girvin announced to his friends in early 1997 that he was planning to make a run for the US Team, he was encouraged to go for it. Even though a persisting back injury had kept him out of many tournaments over the last few years, he was still Gel. Injury or not, Gel is still one of the best. But even as his friends and former teammates gave Gel their support, they must have been thinking, "Can he still do it?" After all, he can't ignore the pain of multiple disc damage forever!

Gel answered that question unequivocally as he shredded all three trials with consistent excellence. He made it clear to all that not only did he still have it, but that, even through the pain, he was undeniably still one of the best.

Since he started competing in 1985, Gel has won nearly 30 tournaments and held 5 world records, world titles in Accuracy and Fast Catch, and US titles in every event. Gel has proven to be a crucial member of the US Team since 1987 and was voted MVP of the 1989 World Champion Team.

Michael 'Gel' is known for his energetic, enthusiastic presence on the field. Girvin is usually the loudest thrower on the field, cheering on whoever is throwing at the time. This behavior alone can be inspiring to a new boomeranger.

But Gel doesn't stop there promoting the sport. Girvin has taught a weekly boomerang class for 12 years, held nearly 30 USBA-sanctioned tournaments and over 70 other individual and team competitions. Former Gel pupils include such boomerang stars as Steve Kavanaugh and John 'Moleman' Anthony.

Michael 'Gel' Girvin is a dynamic and inspiring figure in the sport of boomerangs. Nearly everything about him has had a revolutionizing impact on the sport. From his on-field dress and vibrance to his eye-catching, unique, high-performance boomerangs, Gel has had an impact on the sport like few others.

The decision to name Girvin as MHR's Boomeranger of the Year came just weeks before he announced his retirement from competition (see story page 16). It seems that 1997 was truly destined to be the year of Michael 'Gel' Girvin.

Mike Gabriel

Scanning down the season overall ratings (page 9) list, one sees the same old names in the top 20- wait. Number 17. Mike Gabriel? 6th place in Trick Catch? 8th place in Endurance? Who is this guy?

Well, he's Mike Gabriel. And if you managed to get to a tournament in St. Louis, Delaware or Canton this year you understand how he finished so high in his ratings-debuting year. Gabriel's smooth, barefooted Trick Catch style has left more than one onlooker asking, "How'd he do that?" this season. With long limbs and athletic quickness, he manages to pull out catches that seem uncatchable. "He's like a cross between Chet and Mark Weary," offers 'Chicago' Bob Leifeld.

Mike Gabriel's first competition experience was at the very windy 2nd Annual Illinois Classic in Champaign, Illinois in 1996. He brought 3 boomerangs. He used his Ola Wahlberg Medium V for Trick Catch, an unmodified polypropylene ProFly for Endurance, and a Gel Sunset for Fast Catch. He must have known those booms extremely well because he finished third overall at that comp; just behind 'Chicago' Bob and Billy Brazelton and ahead of Tony Brazelton, 'Rev' Jim Schramm and both Frazier boys in the windiest tourney in any of their memories.

In 1997, Gabriel did nothing but improve. Hard-fought efforts and solid scores kept him in the running with the big boys and girls at every tournament. His selection as 1997's Rookie of the Year is a no-brainer. No one else with so little tournament experience did so much in 1997.

Mike lives in Evanston, Illinois where he recently graduated from Northwestern University with an M.S. in Archaeology.

a boom with such forgiving backdoor action. If you don't have one, it's time to get one.

THE WORST
OF 1997

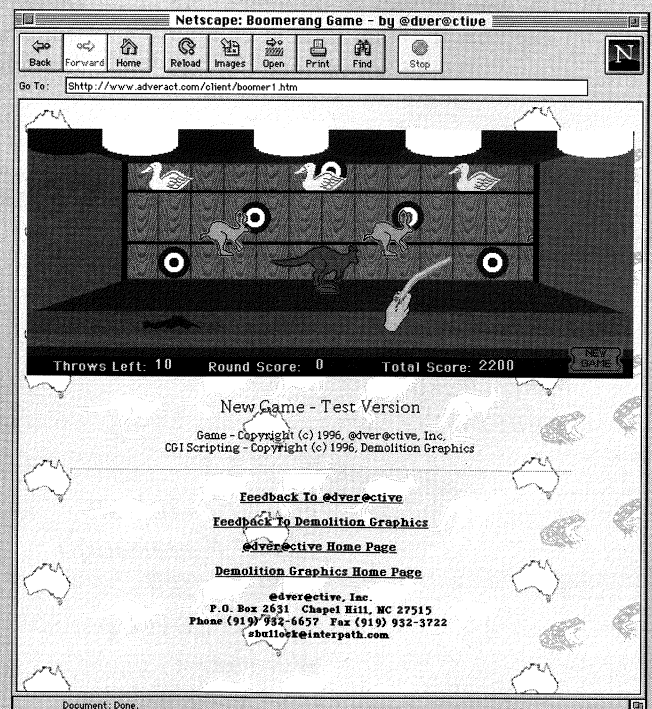

MHR's BAD PRESS AWARD

This is really bad. We found a web game by @dver@ctive (screenshot shown below) in which you throw a boomerang at targets to score points. The targets include kangaroos, rabbits, ducks, and crocodiles. The boomerang flies right back to your hand if you miss. Luckily, it doesn't look like this game will make it to Nintendo any time soon.

Runner-up: We couldn't believe it when we saw FIBA's announcement for their "International Pre-historic Weapons Game '98" with "bows, bolas, spears, kylies, and boomerangs." BOOMERANGS!? Haven't those crazy Finns heard? Boomerangs are not weapons.

MHR's BAD TIMING AWARD

"STOP THROWING!" was what some b'ranglers heard during their Endurance round at the US Open. The central timing announcer hadn't given them an update in over a minute before this abrupt end to their round!

1997 Season Wrap-Up

This season stood out from others in many ways, but perhaps most notably was the implementation of a new team selection system. Boomerangers desiring a spot on a team were required to compete at three team trials tournaments (Amherst, Salem, and the US Open). Although the feeling of competition was higher than normal at these three trials, the most palpable sentiment was the urgency of bringing the cup back to the US after losing to Germany's Young Guns in New Zealand in 1996.

The finish places were tallied for each athlete at the end of the third tournament to generate the ranked list to the right. This list was divided into three teams of six players which will compete at the 1998 World Championship in St. Louis.

Since Gel retired (see story page 16), Gregg successfully appealed for eligibility, and Larry Ruhf accepted a coaching position at Team Blue, the teams stand as printed below.

Many experts have asserted that these three teams are the strongest to ever compete in an international competition. Team Red is jam-packed with speedy, stylin', seasoned veterans with decades of combined World Cup experience. Team Blue is as-

The DBC World Rankings

Oli Thienhaus and the DBC have developed a world ranking system that rates players by their top three scores in each event. Details about this list can be found at members.aol.com/worldranks. Since the Americans do not use the Trick Catch/Doubling format adopted by the rest of the world, the list below reflects all events except Trick Catch/Doubling. The top 50 are listed, plus the remaining US competitors with 3 tournaments or more. Nationality is in parentheses except for US throwers. While most Americans believe this experimntal ranking system is too simple, it is interesting to see who is generally on top and to compare the difference in results between this list and the season overall USBA rankings.

REPORTS

USBA RATED

The US Open

August 2-3, 1997

Delaware, OH

62 throwers: 36 Sport and 26 Open

Weather: Sunny and mid 80's Saturday. Winds WSW 5-7 for Fast Catch and then 7-10 most of afternoon through TC, DBL, ACC. Sunday: warmer: upper 80's. Light winds under 5 mph all through AR, then some thermals, light and variable through MTA, then light NW through most of endurance, building with cloud cover and increasing at times to 7-10 mph during later rounds. Winds then died for fun and games: GLORP, throw stick, and Scramble.

Chet Snuffer

3rd Annual Illinois Classic

August 9, 1997

Champaign, IL

Ah, I remember the 1st Annual Illinois Classic as if it were only a few years ago. Very windy. I promised that such winds were freakish for Illinois in July and next year would be much better. Next year: even windier. Never below 15 mph. Again, promises of better weather next year. I even moved it back a few weeks to ensure some still, August air.

Ahem... uh, well, OK. It was windy, but not quite as bad as last year, never mind the rain. We had 5 Sport throwers, 7 Open throwers, and 1 novice.

In Fast Catch, the winds were gusty and unpredictable (this proved to be the norm for the day) but the scores were amazingly good in such conditions. Tony Brazelton shredded a 27.17 with alot of running. The wind abated just a tad for Trick Catch and Billy Brazelton took us to school with a 25 (almost unbelievable for these conditions). Ditch was able to snag a window early on in Doubling and easily won with 16. Aaron Poole went slow and steady in Endurance and caught nearly every throw. Billy won Aussie Round with a modified Lexan Tri-Fly that Tony made for him just a few days earlier!

Although Tony held a comfortable lead all day, Billy and Aaron Poole narrowed the gap in the last few events, and left the title open to whoever won MTA.

MTA: Anyone who stayed in the circle and caught did well. Tony barely edged out everyone to secure the 3rd Annual Illinois Classic, his first USBA title. When asked how it felt to win his first USBA tournament, Tony replied, "Why am I talking to myself?"

Frecky Lewis won every event in the Open division except MTA, which Terry Norvell took. Eight year-old Eric Brazelton, the newest of the Brazelton brothers to enter the boomerang scene, Eighteen throwers came out August 24th for the Canton Open. The Malmbergs came from PA, Tony and Tara from IL, Mike Gabriel from Chicago, and Nobu extended his stay from Japan! It drizzled part of the day, but mostly it POURED! The day was a lesson for many in how to prepare for throwing all day in the rain. Dry towels, waterproof anoraks, more dry towels, umbrellas (mostly for your booms and towels - keeping yourself dry was a hopeless cause), change of clothes, Rain-X for your glasses, yellow lens sunglasses for the flat gray light, etc.

In spite of this, throwers' spirits were only dampened a little! What highlighted the day, besides the fact that we all had a great time playing in the rain, was some newer throwers perform-

2 hemispheres, 2 tournaments, 2 boomerangs, 2 men 2 world records

Within the span of about 12 hours, the eight year-old MTA world record was broken twice. Fridolin Frost's (Germany) former record of 84.85 seconds was eclipsed by David Hesse (Switzerland), who threw and caught a 97.78 round at the Swiss Championship on September 21. Frost's unthinkable score was replaced by a new unthinkable score by nearly 13 seconds. Hesse and company must have guessed that those 13 seconds would buy the Europeans at least another eight years. But Hesse would only be king for a day. About twelve hours later at Summer's Final Fling in Beaverton, Oregon, Eric Darnell (USA) had just finished his fourth round of MTA. He had four times in the mid-20's. By this time Betsylew Miale-Gix (USA) and Tim Schallberger (USA) had both had flights over a minute, but drifted out. Darnell stepped up for his fifth round and threw a little low, hoping to stay below the wind that carried the other booms out. As the MTA passed over the bullseye, it began to rise. "It went way up. I could hardly see it," Eric remembers. At it's peak height it switched direction three times before starting its descent. As many MTAs do when they dismount a thermal, it came down fast and hard, near the 30 meter line. "I caught it chest-high, it was coming down so fast," explains Darnell. The time: 1 minute, 44.87 seconds. Exactly 7 seconds better than Hesse's flight that same day.

Darnell won the MTA 100 event at four tournaments this year. But Eric remains stubbornly cynical about the sportsmanship of MTA. "It was a fluke each and every time I won this year," he claims.

won every novice event in his first tournament ever.

mances: Don Sagert's 2nd in FC with a 20.30, Mike Gabriel's tie with Gary in winning TC, w/ 32, Steve Kostrab's tie with Mike D. in winning DB (in total downpour) w/27, Mike Gabriel's 2nd in END w/53, Duane Sagert's 1st in AC w/ 43, and Duane Sagert with a huge 80 in AR!

Other highlights were:

- Nobu pulling off a win in MTA on the last throw of the event!

- The even minded crew of Tara Hemami and

SCORES

Shirley Grooms who fastidiously kept all the scores all day and WET IN THE RAIN!

• Gary, Tony, Nobu and crew literally rocking the Astro Van to Queen's 'Bohemian Rhapsody.' "It doesn't really matter..."

• Adam Dickson, 7, scoring a perfect five catches in novice TC in the rain with a 20 meter boom. Novice was held at lunch in the down-pour. Won by Brittany Broadbent, Adam 2nd, Pat Allman 3rd. TC, Fast Throw, and AC.

• Nathan Smucker in his second tournament! This kid is a catching machine! He won and practically swept the Open category along with Chris and Mark Malmberg.

Trophies for 1st three in each event in Open and Sport and 1st three overall in each.

Pam Dickson made awesome T-shirts for the overall: An airborne dog catching an Ola. Underneath it says: "Fetch your own stick!" Extendable antennas for 1st, duct tape for second, lead tape for third- all with ribbons.

Overall was Gary Broadbent 1st, Mike Dickson 2nd, and Nobu edging Tony out for third by fractions of a point.

We stuffed ourselves with Mexican food afterwards, looked at Fred Malmberg's exotics, and enjoyed being warm. All in all, a very satisfying day for everyone: the company was great!

Canadian Boomerang Championships 1997

I. August 30, 1997

Parc Jeanne-Mance, Montreal, Quebec

II. August 31, 1997

Hornets Nest Park, Gloucester, Ontario

After a three year hiatus, competitive throwing ventured north of the border, this time under the guise of the two-day, two-city, two-tournament Canadian Boomerang Championships.

The emphasis during the entire weekend was on bringing the sport to the Canadian public. Better locations and more cooperative weather both helped. The 1994 tournament was held in a mainly industrial part of Montreal, and with the three thunderstorms that day we had few spectators. This year's Montreal event moved downtown to a popular park next to Parc Avenue, a major artery, and scores of passersby stopped for a while to check out the action.

As for the Ottawa Open, it reminded me of a time I've only read about, a time documented in venerable tomes such as the Klutz and

Michael 'Gel' Girvin retires

Michael 'Gel' Girvin, boomeranger from Berkeley, California, announced that he will no longer compete in the sport he helped popularize.

Girvin had been in and out of the competition circuit since 1993 with a recurring back injury. After several operations, Gel made the decision to preserve his future health by quitting the sport he nearly defines. On September 23, Girvin sent a short letter to friends, teammates, and USBA board members saying only this:

"I love boomerangs. I had a fun time earning a spot on the National Team by competing in the three tournament selection format. But in light of the tenuous health of my back, I am relinquishing my spot on the National Team to a healthier thrower.

"It is a very sad day for me. I gave it my best shot, but my future health is at stake and it is not possible for me to compete.

"USA will win!

"Stay Rad!

"Sincerely, Gel."

Girvin had mentioned to many of his friends before the start of the 1997 season that this was his last run at a spot on a US Team. Injury had kept him off teams in recent years and he had slipped in the ratings. His efforts at the three team trials this year were nothing short of amazing. Spectators were treated to spectacular performances by a Girvin in as good a condition as ever. Gel was one of the most consistent performers at the three team trials, garnering two 4ths and a 6th for a total of 14 points, second only to Chet Snouffer's 6 total points.

Retirement was the last resort for Girvin, who had tenaciously fought his lingering ailment. Michael had been in and out of hospitals on a monthly basis for the last two years with treatments of surgery, acupuncture, physical therapy, drugs and the combination of daily exercises, ice and electrical stimulation that he currently employs. Gel has multiple disc damage which eliminates the typical vertebrae fusion surgery as an option.

Few can match Michael's skills in the bullseye, but even fewer can claim the effort and success he has had with promoting the sport. Gel has introduced more new talent to the sport than anyone else, arguably with notable exceptions. Certainly, no one has organized more boomerang events than Girvin, who held his 100th tournament on August 30 and 31 of this year.

Michael said he will continue to run his unique beginner-oriented competitions. "That is what I love to do most- running inclusive, fun events for all throwers!" said Girvin. "It is a sad day for me because I have an indomitable competitive spirit that makes it very difficult for me to make this correct decision. But that indomitable competitive spirit is matched only by my spirit to teach and run fun events! So I will move on to new boomerang activities!"

Although the US Team has lost an invaluable member, there is no doubt that the sport of boomerangs will continue to benefit as Gel redirects his boundless energy.

USBA election: more of the same

Despite recent outcries of displeasure from many USBA members, there was little interest in running for the four officer positions and five director seats available this year.

All positions ran unopposed except one at-large director seat. The retirements of Mark Weary, Gary Broadbent and John Koehler opened three slots for which Eric Darnell, Frank Gundawarra, Keith Mullinar, and Larry Ruhf ran. Gundawarra was the odd man out. The newly elected board consists of the following:

President: Betsylew Miale-Gix

Vice President: Chet Snouffer

Treasurer: Gregg Snouffer

Secretary: Tony Brazelton

At-large Directors: Eric Darnell, Mike Dickson, John Flynn, Keith Mullinar, Larry Ruhf.

Although there was considerable turnover in the at-large directors, these faces are not new to serving the USBA.

Many board members had received pleas, complaints, and even threats in the aftermath of the recent one-year MHR lapse. "Lots of people were angry that they saw no benefits of membership in over a year- and understandably so. If you are not a competitor, there is little the USBA offers you besides the newsletter. MHR is the only contact many members have with the USBA," said Secretary Tony Brazelton.

So, when the nomination forms were mailed out for this year's election, many board members were hopeful that this emotional uprising among the members would incite many to run for office. But the ballot remained meager and familiar.

Brazelton had something to say about the situation. "It's difficult to have radical change when the ballot consists entirely of unopposed incumbents. It's nothing short of hypocrisy for people to insult the efforts of the board if they aren't willing to volunteer."

Congratulations to Eric, Keith and Larry for sacrificing their time for the good of the USBA.

MHR contributors granted reimbursement

USBA members have a new reason to let the boomerang world know what's on their minds. The USBA board approved a new measure by which contributors to the newsletter will receive payment.

All persons contributing text to Many Happy Returns will be paid $0.02 per word if requested at the time of submission. Details of this reimbursement system will be printed in every issue of MHR.

The payment system was proposed by editor-in-chief Tony Brazelton, who believed that it would provide incentive for members who otherwise would remain silent to communicate their ideas. "More diverse copy means more interesting copy. No editor wants to be responsible for writing the entire newsletter and no USBA member wants to be bored by one writing style," said Brazelton.

As the system matures and the USBA grows, the payment amount per word may increase.

Boomerangs thrown aboard Space Shuttle Atlantis

Communicated by Jacques Thomas

French astronaut Jean-Fancois Clervoy took five boomerangs aboard the NASA Space Shuttle Atlantis during a 9-day space flight. It was the first known celestial boomerang flight in zero-gravity.

Clervoy, an honorary member of the La Perouse Boomerang Club de France, was given an MK-1 and four cardboard indoor boomerangs before mission STS-84, a space shuttle flight which included a rendezvous with the Russian space station Mir.

Clervoy threw all four indoor booms inside the shuttle, once in orbit. He also spun the MK-1 into a zero-gravity, stationary hover. Unfortunately, the effect of zero gravity on the flight of the indoor booms was difficult to determine because of the strong drafts in the cabin. The drafts are purposely created to avoid buildup of carbon dioxide pockets.

Thomas will display the MK-1 and one of the indoor booms in a future museum exhibit. Each of the remaining indoor booms was given by Thomas to Clervoy and the Aero Club de France, respectively. All four indoor booms bear Clervoy's signature and the stamp of Russia, since they had visited a Russian space station.

Thomas first met Clervoy two years ago as a result of Clervoy's interest in boomerangs. It was at this meeting that Thomas and Clervoy first discussed the idea of experimental boomerang flights in space.

"I propose that the BAA adopt the following definition of a boomerang, amended from Ted Bailey's submission, for a one year trial period April 1986 to April 1987.

"My amended definition would read as follows:

"Boomerang: An object that is thrown from the hand, un-aided by any mechanical means, with a combination of both translation and rotation about its centre of mass so the gyroscopic precession (caused by differential lift over the airfoil surfaces relative to its angular orientation) and aerodynamic lift combine to produce a flight path which returns the object to the thrower or to within a reasonable distance from the thrower."

USA Team II (John "Moleman" Anthony, Eric Darnell, Doug DuFresne, Casey Larrance, Jeff LeCount, and Rob Parkins and coached by Barnaby Ruhe) win the World Cup in Hamburg. USA Team I (Gary Broadbent, Michael Girvin, Dennis Joyce, John Koehler, Chet Snouffer, and Gregg Snouffer) finish second. Fridolin Frost (GER) wins the World Individual title.

The Endurance world record is broken three times. Rob Parkins with 73, then John Flynn with 74, then Parkins again with 75.

The Juggling world record is also broken three times. Paul David with 239, then Chet Snouffer with 480, and Chet again with 502.

Chet Snouffer wins the US Open in Amherst, Massachusetts.

a difference in efficiency and quality. However, the USBA board has officially approved a $.02/word compensation for all contributions if the author requests such compensation. As stated before, we believe that such motivation, even though modest, will increase the likelihood that potential contributors will submit their writing. Also, to our knowledge, the USBA has never asserted that more revenue would not make it a better organization.

Regarding a name change for MHR: This was suggested by the new MHR staff when it took over in May of this year for the very same reasons that you bring up. The idea was soundly rejected by the board. The rationale is that the name Many Happy Returns is the oldest extant boomerang publication with an international reputation. The staff questioned whether 500 subscriptions worldwide should be considered an international reputation, but accepted the board's decision.

Regarding your idea for an article on widely held false perceptions about boomerangs: Sounds like a great idea to us!

toundingly well-rounded with Aussie Round threats Gregg Snouffer and Chicago Bob, Fast Catch mutant Adam Ruhf, hang-time masters 'Air' Gorski and Miale-Gix and no-weakness John Koehler. Team White at first glance seems the weakest of the three US offerings (two team members, Tony B. and Spike Frazier, have never seen an international comp). But a look at their accomplishments on paper this year puts them at least into theoretical contention. Solid performances all year long including a US Open win by Stevie K. and a new MTA world record by Eric Darnell make Team White a contender.

"Any of these teams could win it," notes Michael 'Gel' Girvin, former member of Team White. But, of course, so could any of the German, French, Japanese or Swiss teams.

> The Quad City Times published an article about Rock Island, Illinois boomer Kendall Davis on August 17. The article contained an astounding amount of misinformation and inaccuracies, starting off with the subheading in large print, "Army Sergeant crafts Aboriginal hunting tools."

Author Ross Bielema stated that "Boomerangs remain most popular in Australia, where aborigines use them for hunting," and "Davis said he's happy to demonstrate this ancient hunting device for clubs, scout groups and others, free of charge. He's already skimmed the heads of kids at Silvis Grade School and a Cub scout group."

Even when Bielema tried to educate his readers about how boomerang work, he faltered, writing, "...it involves a series of wings facing in different directions that generate loft (sic), which creates processional (sic) force and angular momentum."

All in all, it was a nice biographical piece that didn't do the sport any favors.

Ruhe/Darnell books from the '80s. Picture driving down a hill overlooking a soccer field full of young families and retirees throwing Air Dancers. At another field a few folks are trying out Tri-Flies, and at another some competitors are warming up. Find a spot in the crowded parking lot, grab your lawn chair and drinks, and sit back for a few hours to learn how to throw, and watch Canada's finest throwers (and one token Yank) show what competitive throwing is all about. And it's 1997, not 1980. That's how the Ottawa day went.

Stephane and Larry Ruhf took advantage of the early light breezes with 42s in Accuracy. John Flynn and Eric Promislow rode those same winds to share 1st in Trick Catch. Adam Ruhf claimed doubling for himself with 30, and John Flynn finished the morning with a 45 in Endurance before the afternoon winds closed the window on the rest of the competitors.

After lunch we threw an impromptu Team Position to segue into Aussie Round, which attracted the most spectators of the day. Eric Darnell figured out how to handle the tree screen to win it with 54. John Flynn needed 27.75 to win a tricky Fast Catch. Finally, Eric Darnell won MTA with 30.80.

Day 2 in Ottawa started with a scheduled public demo at 9 A.M. I expected a few people to show up, but the parking lot was full by 9:45. A positive write-up in the Ottawa Citizen the previous Thursday, a radio interview on a popular local events show, and a press release I sent out to the various "what's on" guides in the city had done the trick.

During Accuracy the crowd applauded not only the bullseyes, but also the 8s, and gave Alex

Stuparich a big ovation as he won his first-ever event, with a 34 in light, shifting winds.

The crowd moved back to the 50 meter line during Trick Catch, but the applause continued. We did Doubling simultaneously, over a wide space, as only five of us were prepared for it. Those light winds helped, with Eric Darnell getting 32 in Trick Catch, and in Doubling one point separated Eric's 25 from Stephane's 24. Both of them nailed the foot-and-any-catch, to the onlookers' appreciation.

Stephane and Eric kept the crowd impressed during Endurance, with 50 and 46 respectively. Gaston Jacques hit his first personal best of three that day, taking third spot with 39.

At the end of Endurance the dark cloud hanging over the distance in the northwest finally did its damage. After a 30 minute lunch break the cloud and rain had passed, leaving us with dead calm and Aussie Round. Stephane and Gaston figured out the wind, getting 75 and 64 points respectively. One of the local TV stations came by to film this event. The film crew left at the start of Fast Catch, in which Eric D, Stephane, and Gaston finished with 22.16, 23.39, and 26.74 (Gaston's third personal best in a row).

The two Eric's took MTA, Darnell with 25.86, Promislow with 23.69. John Cross came third with 20.90.

Finally, we had on-field ceremonies, featuring Stephane's ingenious trophies: tiny models of throwers climbing trees to retrieve MTAs, sunbathers watching or ignoring throwers, drops, and triumphant catches. We welcomed John Cross as the newest member of the Canadian team. And since you can't have a decent closing ceremony without fire, I lit up three torches and juggled a flaming farewell to the day's participants.

1st Annual Kitty Hawk Kites Invitational September 13, 1997 Nags Head, NC

Former World Champion Boomerang thrower John Koehler of Norfolk, Virginia took the title at the first Outer Banks Boomerang Tournament hosted by Kitty Hawk Kites at First Flight Middle School in Kill Devil Hills.

The tournament attracted USBA members from Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Maryland, DC, Virginia, Vermont, and North Carolina. Second Place honors went to Jim Jordan of Gaithersburg, Maryland. Tied for third place was Eric Darnell of Vermont, and Dennis Joyce of Newport News, Virginia. Nearly perfect conditions prevailed for the day long event generating more enthusiasm as the Outer Banks proved itself as an ideal location for tournament play.

80 degree weather and gentle breezes set the stage for the tournament day. The tournament started with a greeting by Darla Rovniak, tournament director and marketing manager for Kitty Hawk Kites. Just as the festivities got underway six riders on horseback made their way across the dunes that provided the backdrop for the tournament rounds at First Flight Middle School. John Koehler acted as on-field director with the assistance of Eric Darnell and Dennis Joyce. The tournament fielded eleven competitors. The Juice was up to, what appears to be his usual antics, throwing backward during the stunt catch competition. Kitty Hawk Kites' own Jason Laurent made a showing for the host organization with some respectable throws.

4TH EUROPEAN CUP

On July 5 and 6, when Fridolin Frost (GER) swept three 1sts and one 2nd place at the 4th European Cup Tournament in Besancon, no one thought it would be possible to beat his amassed score of 313 points overall.

No one, that is, but Jurg Schedler (SWT), who bested his overall score by 0.5 points. Jurg maintained steady performances of two 4ths, two 6ths, one 7th and one 10th. Frido finished 14th in Accuracy and 20th in MTA to drop his overall finish to 2nd place.

Ironically, Frido needed only 1 more Accuracy point or just 0.3 seconds in MTA to win the Cup. Who says you shouldn't milk that MTA?

ROCKY MOUNTAIN THROW

August 23, 1997

We had a great day of throwing. There was a group of about 8 core competitors, with others coming and going. No one had competed in any type of competition before and for several, it was the first time they had thrown a boomerang.

The morning was spent setting the field up and warming up. The sky was clear and the temperature warm. Unfortunately, there was no wind and only an occasional breeze that would show up unexpectedly from any direction on the field.

This tended to baffle most of us since it was difficult to tell where to throw the booms.

After lunch we had four events: Fast Throw, Fast Throw Endurance, Accuracy, and Team Round Rang Relay. Even in this casual format, competition was fierce. Throwers were diving back into the 2m circle and people were running their fastest to keep their times as short as possible. And if throwers were not competing, they were enthusiastically cheering on and encouraging the other throwers. Best of all, everyone was having a good time.

There were five boomerangs that landed either in a creek, tree, or on top of the picnic shelter. All but the two rangs that landed in the huge cottonwood tree were recovered. Two rangs, that I know of, were obliterated. One smashed into the cottonwood tree, and one tried to enter the cinder block restroom without using the door.

I would also be totally out of line if I did not point out the expert judging done by Anna and Elyse Pollock-Nelson. On their own initiative, they took on this judicious task and performed very professionally. I have rarely seen things kept in such great order as I have this competition.

They kept the players in line and kept the competition moving.

9TH ANNUAL NOVICE TEAM BOOMERANG TOURNAMENT

September 14, 1997

We had 9 "regulars" which was a bit disappointing, but we had 12 newcomers turned on to boomerangs. Gary Broadbent and Bud Pell couldn't come so that accounts for 7 "regulars". With teams of 6 we got 6 events run in 2 hours flat. The Super Novice format works!!

I turned in a very small notice to the local neighborhood paper. They placed it on the front page. That brought 10 of the new comers out.

1ST ANNUAL TUCSON BOOMERANG TOURNAMENT

Nine throwers registered for this event, including two novices and now new USBA members David Every from Tucson and Peter O'Shea from San Diego. A tenth thrower, John Ekelman from Australia, showed up late, but was invited to participate in the last few events. It was a gorgeous day with mild temps, and light - medium winds with occasional swirls.

A wonderful article that appeared in the local paper a few days before the tournament brought about 75 spectators throughout the morning. They showed their appreciation of the fine throwing by breaking out into spontaneous applause.

The tournament was won by Mark Weary (big surprise), with tournament director Don Monroe coming in second and Steve Sanders from Albuquerque coming in third. Other competitors included Kelly Andretti, Dan Neelands, Chris Ozolins and John Weigel. The common theme surrounding this tournament was that it was just plain FUN. Yes, we plan to have another tournament next year, and are certain we won't have any problem getting 11 competitors registered.
